

Cardinal

The bright red male cardinal sings cheer, cheer, cheer. Cardinals have strong, heavy bills to break seeds. The pointed feathers that stand up on top of their heads is called a crest. The female cardinal is reddish-brown. This cardinal is perched on a dogwood branch.