

The “New” Right-to-Know Law

On February 14, 2008, Governor Edward Rendell signed into law an Act which substantially changes public access to government records, tipping the scales in favor of the disclosure of these records. This Act could have a tremendous impact on how more transparent state and local governments operate.

Although this website is a tremendous source of information, you can find out more information by submitting a Right-to-Know request. There are procedures and requirements that must be followed.

The request must be submitted in writing to the Open Records Officer. A form to be used for such requests can be obtained at the Harrisburg Office of the Pennsylvania Game Commission and at Open Records Offices throughout the Commonwealth. The Game Commission address is:
