State Game Land 216 is a single contiguous tract of approximately 488 acres in rural western Lawrence County within the Pennsylvania Game Commission’s Northwest Region (Wildlife Management Unit 1A).

The Game Land is easily accessed, located south of State Route 108 and west of US Route 19, the Game Land is fronted on the west by Game Farm Rd., on the South by Harlansburg-Rose Point Rd., and is bisected by County Line Road which runs east and west. Six parking lots are maintained and foot travel is welcome on 4 miles of gated road. The farthest interior point from a parking area or gate is 0.2 miles.

SGL 216 is primarily forested, with the majority of the forest cover in northern hardwoods. The second most prevalent habitat type is old-field reverting shrubland, followed by cultivated openings. Invasive plant species are present on most areas of the Game Land. Soils are generally poor to fair for cultivated crops, but support early successional and forested cover.

SGL 216 is utilized primarily for small game and turkey hunting. Some woodcock hunting occurs, as well as hunting and trapping for raccoon, beaver, mink, red and gray fox, and eastern coyote. Deer are also hunted. Hiking, bird watching and cross-country skiing are lawful recreational activities that occur occasionally. This gameland has one short, 0.75-mile horse and bike trail.

Current habitat conditions present an opportunity to manage for American woodcock, a PA Species of Concern (SOC). Non-game bird SOC include the blue-winged warbler, brown thrasher, and scarlet tanager. Additional management should also favor the Indiana bat, a federally endangered species. Other non-game SOC mammals include the hoary bat and northern water shrew.
