

Lesser Black-backed Gull Tracking

The paths of nine lesser black-backed gulls that the Game Commission is studying can be seen in a map at <http://pagame.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=8ba61a89dd8a408a9e31264c6d9ae0d1>.

Tips for using the map

1. If viewing on smaller or low-resolution screen (the layer list covers more than 1/3 the screen width), zoom browser setting out to 75-90%.

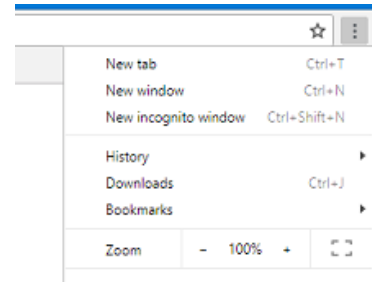

Internet Explorer

Firefox

Chrome

2. Zoom in and out using the controls in the upper left corner of the map.
3. Animate the timeline of the points and paths of the gulls by clicking the clock icon.

4. Turn different birds (points) or paths (lines) on and off by checking and un-checking the associated boxes on the right-hand side of the map in the layer list.
5. View other features of the map by expanding the layer list and turn on or off all layers by clicking on the small icon in the upper right most corner of the layer box.
