

Little Brown Bat

The little brown bat is the only mammal that can fly. Bats can be seen at dusk and after dark under street lamps. They sleep during the day by hanging upside down in attics, old buildings or on trees. Bats help people by eating insects.